

Gundy Wins Decision Over Douglas In 15 Rounds

CANVY FEATHER AND WESTERN BOXER BATTLE THE FIGHT

Gundy Is Awarded the Decision at the End Because of Clean Punching and Aggressiveness; Douglas An Extremely Game Boy and Won Approval of Fans; Delmont and Payo Boys Are Presented.

By HUD RUTHERFORD.

NICK GUNDY added one more victory to his string of battles in the west column of his record and Jack Douglas established himself as a heady game little scrapper who will fight as long as he is on two feet Friday night in 15 rounds at the Stadium motor group arena. Gundy used his fast left hand to punch his way to victory and while round after round it seemed merely a matter of Douglas coming up and showing his nose and eyes in the way of Nick's gloves he showed a spirit of gameness and sportsmanship that has not been equaled here since Bobby Green stood off Otto Wallack for an equal number of rounds.

The decision went to Gundy at the end of the battle and the fans were too tired with the poor order of milling to express their approval or disapproval.

Gundy Has Lead. Gundy established a lead early in the contest when he opened a cut on the nose of his opponent and the fight began to stream. It worried Douglas a great deal but the Prisoner kept coming in game and in several sessions fought the speedy Gundy to a standstill, the fans applauded his efforts when he landed a stiff right cross or hard jab. Gundy's left hand maintained the margin he won during the early rounds and he also finished Douglas in the last few sessions with stiff punches to the face and body. They failed to stop Jack, however, but gave the fight to the former. Several cavalry Tompkins Terrier on points.

Do-Guns Is Popular. When the first half called the two boys to the center of the ring Gundy was the favorite both in a financial and sentimental way with the fans.

The clean boxing of the little scrapper had established him as a big fight attraction here but the fans who could not understand why Young Lincoln—a real stone throw away in Arizona—had not won matches with him. Instead of an unknown in Douglas, did not come out to the bout in large numbers and there were many seats vacant in the arena. When some fans are now trying to figure out just why Otto Wallace should be matched with Gundy, must after his defeat at the hands of Tommy Carter and the southern department champ is a total loss.

Douglas fought himself into popularity as early as the second round when he took a beating from Gundy in an effort to land one. He showed little but an ability to take punishment in the early sessions and it is the fact that he was able to take the onslaught of Nick which made him such a favorite. Gundy won every round up to the sixth and a substantial margin and the sixth session was taken by Douglas as he fought back fiercely after an alleged foul on the part of Nick on the eastern side of the ring. The cavalryman did not step back when the two men were separated and sought Douglas with a cross on the jaw which jarred him to the ropes.

Spot By Hands. The seventh belonged to Douglas. The eighth was even and Nick did some nice work in the ninth. The tenth and 11th rounds Gundy and Douglas fought the last three, as while Douglas fought back fiercely in the last session and shot in a series of hard lefts Gundy retaliated with stiff blows to the jaw and took the session on points.

Celebrated Referee. The following was submitted Saturday morning by a local boy, who believes that Douglas should have been awarded the verdict in the sixth round. He also says something about the work of the referee: "In the sixth round coming out of a clinch Gundy nearly ended the fight by landing a good blow to Douglas's head, following which the referee stepped in and separated the two. After the blow was struck immediately after referee McCarthy's instruction for the two to break, Gundy might have continued the blow was unintentional but it happened after the order to break had been given and the referee had put-

POSTPONE GOLF TOURNEY SUNDAY

Special Four Men Team Event Will Not Be Held; Amateur Title Play On.

Announcement was made Saturday morning that the special four men team golf tournament scheduled to be held at the Country club Sunday had been postponed until a later date. The qualifying round in the club championship will commence next Saturday afternoon on the upper valley course and a date will be arranged for the special tournament.

Amateur Play Starts. Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 16.—After a lapse of three years, in which many of them served in the army or navy, the leading amateur golf players of America, including their tee shots at No. 3 today when play for the national amateur championship started over the Oakmont Country club course.

El Pasoans Popular. The Payo boys were cheered repeatedly by the crowd for their splendid work in upholding the prestige of El Paso abroad, and Gene Delmont showed himself to be a big favorite when he was introduced by Lieut. Carl Studer and was applauded.

Tommy Carter, southern department lightweight champion was in Gundy's corner and helped the little fellow greatly during the fight. Jack Douglas, southern middle champ and referee Billy Smith were also on the job behind Gundy and received a hand from the fans. Kid George was chief of matters inside in Douglas's corner and handled the westerner like the veteran he is.

Six three minute rounds of buffeting on the part of Walter Gray, a lanky boy from Marfa, Texas, and sergeant Arthur Holmgren resulted in a draw decision on the part of referee Jack McCarthy. Gray backed away from his opponent after it was well received, in it point of act it was received at all. The two boxers were poorly trained and neither exhibited any boxing skill. Gray backed away for the first three rounds and then stepping in for the last three sessions. The referee, who was a local boy, about the center. Holmgren nearly put his opponent after it in the first round of the battle, but Arthur eluded it during the last part and Gray slammed a couple of hard ones to the face and midsection, which helped to even up the contest.

AMATEUR GOLF TITLE PLAY OPENS

Francis Quimet, Famous Titleholder of 1914, Gives Personal Views of Players Who Are Entered in Big Tournament; Many Players Are Lucky and Win Out When "Breaks" Are With Them; Hagen One of These.

By FRANCIS QUIMET.

WITH the amateur golf championship under way at Oakmont the golf world has turned its attention to this affair. Naturally, those who write on this game are looked upon as having some inside information as to whom the winner will be. Now, in my own case, I long ago learned that picking a winner in golf is about the most difficult thing in the world. As for the amateur I have nothing to say. There are a dozen possibilities and that the player who can maintain the pace through the grueling battle of matches is the champion. Who he will be is beyond my prediction.

Some Players Lucky. Championships are like nearly all golf tournaments in that little things will turn the tide. But after they are over every player and every spectator who remembers the game shot or shot played under exceptional conditions. Strange as it may seem these wonder shots are usually caused under circumstances that are anything but favorable.

I never will forget one "Chick" Evans played at the Chicago Golf club in 1912. In the qualifying round of the National Amateur, this particular shot enabled him to tie Harold Hilton's total of 152 strokes. "Chick" needed a four on the last hole to make a hole-in-one and a four on that hole was nothing out of the ordinary for a player like Evans. He had a hole-in-one on the last hole and made the four most difficult.

His ball came to rest between a pair of large chocolate drops on the right side of the fairway, making it impossible for him to play direct for the green. We all expected to see him chip onto the fairway and make a putt for the green. Instead, Evans played a mashie for all he was worth across the fairway and almost at right angles to the green. It landed in the polo field—a place used for practice.

Was Belated Tree. This left him 150 yards short of the green and directly behind a huge tree. In order to reach the green he had to chip over the tree and still get sufficient distance to land on the putting surface—a hard combination. Sliding the situation up instantly he played a high mashie shot that easily cleared the tree and came down to earth 20 feet from the cup. When he sank that putt the champion was crowned. I often think of that putt when people say "Chick" is not good on the green.

Is a Good Thing. The preview of a tournament is a good one, but Mr. Kelly should take in consideration the fact that Tommy Carter, the present southern department champion, has met and defeated nearly all of the 123 contenders in this section of persons.

Tommy has vanquished Otto Wallace, Bobby Green, Al McManus and a number of others, and while it is true that Carter is a champion, he is not a champion in the eyes of the people. Carter, who has not been defeated since he was a boy, is the only boy in the world who has not been defeated by Carter. Mr. Kelly's letter is in connection with the staging of the tourney follows:

"El Paso Herald. 'Just a line to give you a little dope on the sporting men of Douglas. I see in your column where Benny Leonard and Tommy Carter may be matched in Miami, Ariz. Well, I am a personal friend of Benny Leonard, who is the best of the best in the world, and I am in touch with him at all times. I just arrived in Arizona for the present southern department champion contest in Rickard's arena. When I left Ohio Mr. Gibson asked me to look over Arizona, El Paso, Tex., and Tulsa, Okla., and see what I could do toward bringing Benny out west.

"I have visited all of the boxing towns in Arizona and I think that the only way that Leonard will be brought to Arizona is to have a lightweight tournament between the best boys in the west and let the winner box Benny Leonard at the Arizona state fair grounds. Leonard will be the only way to give the real boxing fans of the west a chance to see the champion in action.

"I have written to Harry Clark, one of the sporting men of Douglas, and in on the Arizona state fair committee, to try and have Leonard box before the fans during fair week.

"The boys that I entered the lightweight tournament would be Tommy Carter, Otto Wallace and Bobby Green, from Texas; Chet Neff, from Miami; Frankie Desmarie, from Douglas; and Al McMorris, Young Brown, Leo Houck and Young O'Brien, from Los Angeles.

"I have also seen a candidate in a boy named Happy Woods, who has had six contests and has won them all in less than three rounds. Frank McManus, who is handling young Ralph Lincoln, is managing Knockout Happy Woods. I have seen his handiwork with Nick Gundy at Chicago, at Los Angeles, and Bobby Burns at Nacales and in Lincoln. I think he has the best handiwork in the world, as I have seen Pete Herman and all the good bantams box in the east and

OUTLOOKS BRIGHT FOR TEXAS UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL ELEVEN

Juneau Will Again Serve as Coach of Team and Will Be Advised by Van Gent, Former Head Coach of the Longhorns; Baseball Will Not Be Behind Grid-Iron Game in Development of Fast Athletes.

By WILLIAM J. WEEG.

WHEN the curtain falls on Texas athletics this fall it will find the University of Texas eleven guided by the most capable and fortified coaching staff in the southwest. If not in the south. The opening game with Howard Payne college at Brownwood, on September 27 will be an indication of what the coaching staff will have to do to whip the Longhorn eleven in shape for the harder games to come later.

Juneau on the Job. William J. Juneau will again serve the Longhorns as head coach. This is his third year with the Texas eleven and it bids fair to be a victorious one for him. Juneau, after a four year stint with the team in 1917, came back in the fall of 1918 and convinced his critics of his success as a coach by turning in an undefeated season in football.

This was done despite many handicaps—the influenza caused a temporary postponement of football while the student army restrictions on athletics, Juneau, south-western teams in their race to athletics, served on the coaching staff of the University of Wisconsin and there established a record of invincible out winning teams.

Besides being a successful football coach, Juneau has proved his worth as a coach of experienced materials resulting from invasions made by the war on athletics. Juneau will have charge of the track team again this year and followers of the Orange and White are already predicting that the popular head coach will turn out a winner next spring.

Van Gent Will Help. Eugene Van Gent, head coach of the Longhorns in 1916, will help Juneau in shaping the Longhorn football machine this fall. Van Gent will coach the line while Juneau will take care of the backfield. With this combination, the Texas team should prove a hard obstacle in the path of several southwestern teams in their race toward the 1919 gonfalon. Van Gent also holds from the University of Wisconsin and incidentally spent several years as a pupil in the gridiron game under coach Juneau. He played in the line on the Wisconsin eleven.

Like Juneau, Van Gent is also a track coach of the first caliber. Due to his work with elder men in the game the Longhorns have been hanging undefeated records in track for six years.

Ray Henderson, athletic director of athletes last year, will bear the burden of coaching the basketball team this winter. Henderson's fame in this regard has been well established during his four years as basketball mentor during which time he turned out championship teams every year.

Whitaker to Return. Harry Whitaker, assistant head coach of university athletics prior to his entrance in the military service, will return this fall to take charge of intercollegiate athletics. This phase of athletic work which was inaugurated several years ago in the university by coach Whitaker has been the means of finding new talent for the regular university teams.

The football and baseball teams will be taken care of by Hyman J. Kittinger, Harvard athletic star of a decade ago, will act as mentor for the first year men and this fall marks his sixth year as member of the Texas coaching staff.
